Dear Commissioners, Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the proposed cell tower to be located near the end of Kinny Road, Manchester, California. After a cursory review of the applicant's construction documents, I am left questioning why this tower is being proposed? It appears, based on the applicant's materials, that current cell coverage for the area is ample with cell towers located north, south and east of the project. While it may be the current structure meets some of the planning criteria required to construct it, I wonder: do we really need to despoil a highly-scenic, rugged coastline with another cell tower when sufficient coverage is already in place? I object to this project as redundant and unnecessary. We don't need to litter the landscape with an additional cell tower in a highly-scenic, natural area with existing coverage. Please deny the applicant's request to construct this tower. Thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Sincerely,

Maryellen Sheppard
